Ipno Pendant

by Michele de Lucchi

The Ipno Suspension by Artemide, designed by Michele De Lucchi, is an innovative optical marvel that transforms light delivery through advanced technology and refined aesthetics. At its core, the fixture features a sophisticated optical unit that employs Total Internal Reflection (TIR) to precisely direct and concentrate light. The design's defining feature is its spiral-patterned diffuser, which creates a mesmerising visual effect by controlling the rate of light emission into the surrounding environment. Light appears to come alive as it passes through the transparent material, producing a soft, captivating glow rather than harsh illumination. The optics are housed within a metal disc that gently stretches into a cone toward the suspension point, emphasised by a subtle light detail. This sophisticated blend of engineering and design creates an almost magical effect, playing with light in total transparency. Made in Italy.
